

ABSTRACT

This invention provides for the use of polyphenol compounds or their derivatives, obtainable by chemical processes, biotechnical processes or from plant extracts such as rosemary, as scavengers of free radicals in cigarette filter.